WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA AND CENTRAL COASTAL AREAS:

Eureka Weather:

With strong high pressure over the northern Rockies and a thermal low pressure trough shifting off the California coast, offshore flow will result in very warm and dry conditions for one more day. A surge of marine air will start a cool down Friday before the next storm system approaches late in the weekend.

San Francisco Weather:

One more warm day across the San Francisco and Monterey Bay Areas due to strong high pressure and offshore flow. Temperatures cool near the coast Friday with the return of onshore flow. Widespread cooling to near seasonal normals over the weekend as high pressure breaks down.

CENTRAL CALIFORNIA AND SOUTHERN SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY

Sacramento Weather:

High pressure over the West Coast for fair skies and near record high daytime temperatures can be expected today. A slight cooling on Friday and then more cooling over the weekend as a Pacific low pressure system approaches the Pacific Northwest coast. A precipitation threat exists for Northern California on Monday mainly north of Sacramento. A relatively flat ridge of high pressure will keep daytime temperatures near normal into mid-week with a slight threat of showers continuing over the mountains.

Hanford Weather:

High pressure will remain over Central California for the next several days bringing mostly clear skies and a day to day warming trend through Thursday with little change Friday and Saturday. Several degrees of cooling can be expected Sunday and into early next week as a trough of low pressure moves across the area.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION: (Con't)

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA:

Los Angeles Weather:

High pressure and gusty offshore winds will produce very warm conditions today. For Friday through early next week, a cooling trend is expected as a trough approaches and moves across the West Coast.

Extreme Southwestern California Including Orange, San Diego, Western Riverside and Southwestern San Bernardino Counties:

Hot and windy Santa Ana weather will continue for one more day today. Winds will diminish late today and become light tonight and Friday, but it will remain very warm. On Saturday, a return to onshore flow will bring cooling west of the mountains. The cooling trend will accelerate next week with a deepening marine layer and stronger onshore flow.

Southeast California Weather:

A strong high pressure system will settle in over Southeastern California today and prevail through early next week. Above normal temperatures and sunny skies can be expected through this period. Late Tuesday, an upper level disturbance from the Pacific Northwest will bring temperatures back toward normal.

Cal EOC Incident – 2014 Drought

Situational Summary

On January 17, 2014 Governor Edmund G. Brown proclaimed a State of Emergency and directed state officials to take all necessary actions to prepare for drought conditions. The State Operation Center (SOC) is activated to implement objectives in support of the Governor's priorities. The lack of winter rain and snowfall has resulted in extremely dry conditions in many parts of the State. Reservoir levels are down significantly from where they should be on average for this time of year. If conditions continue without substantial rainfall, severe impacts to municipal water supplies, agriculture (plants and livestock) and firefighting capabilities are likely in store for the State over the next few months. Negative economic impacts will also result.

**As our state's rainy season comes to an end, it is highly unlikely that precipitation totals will increase significantly. This winter's below average rain and snowfall worsens conditions in this third straight dry year.***

The drought could result in severe impacts to the municipal water supplies, wells, agriculture (plants and livestock) and firefighting capabilities for several months. The SOC continues to be activated to monitor the situation statewide, and support regional and local operational areas.

Situational Summary (Cont.)

Information as of 4/28/14

- The Taskforce continues to meet regularly to take actions that conserve water and coordinate state response to the drought.
- The most recent snowpack survey, conducted on April 1, recorded California snowpack at 32% of normal. A more recent update using automated devices shows snowpack at 19% of normal as of April 20.
- DWR has announced that water essential for health and safety will be delivered through the state water project in spite of the zero allocation policy. Deliveries will be boosted if storms produce enough rain and snow to increase reservoir storage and the snow pack.
- Cal OES continues to gather drought-related costs from state agencies and local governments.
